What's in a name?

How Do We Know How Old Places Are?

Place names give us clues to who first settled in a place and what the place was like.

Can you think of any place names with these suffixes?

Roman	Anglo-Saxon	Viking
-chester -caster -cester all mean "castle"	-ham means village -ton means farm -ford means river crossing	-by means village -thorpe means farm -toft means house

List the names you can think of below.....

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

Look carefully at where the different towns are located, on this map.

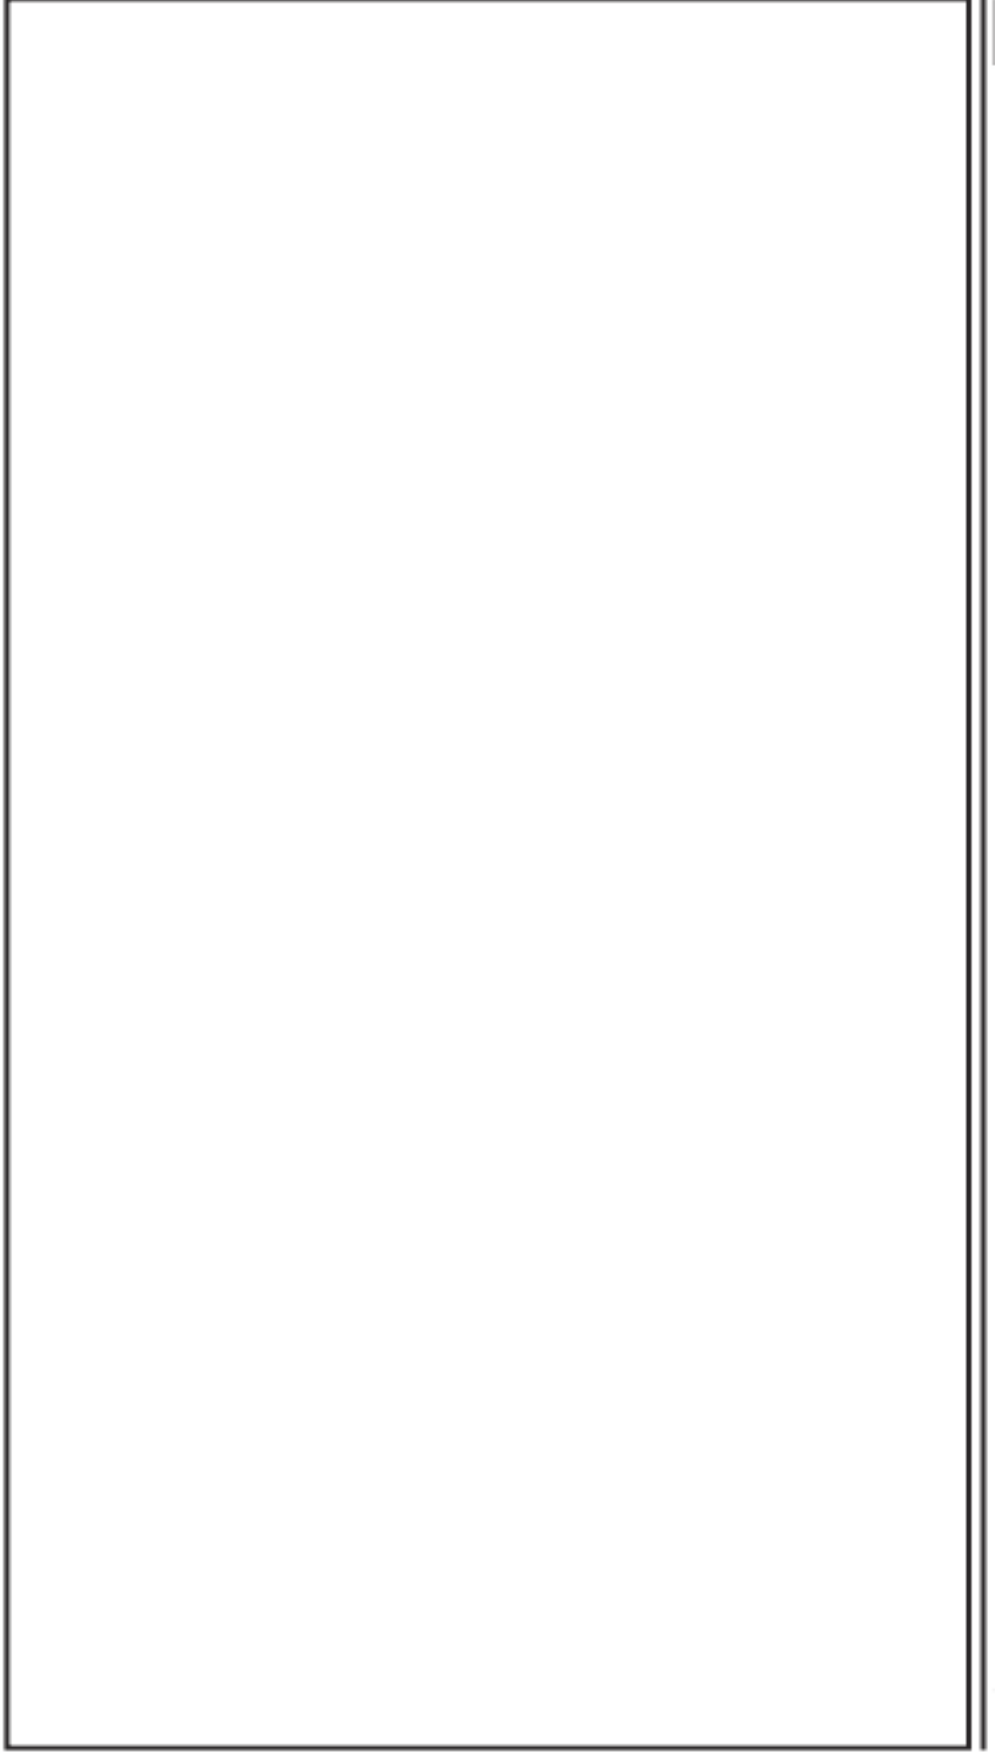

Can you spot any patterns?

Challenge: Can you use the internet to find some other towns that might have been formed by romans and Vikings?

Design a settlement.

Design a Settlement

Iron Age hillforts had lots of features that made them easy to defend. They were built on hills, so approaching enemies were easy to spot. They had ditches at the bottom, which were difficult for attackers to cross. Hillforts were built with high walls that were hard for enemies to climb. Entrances to the hillfort were guarded. Design your own settlement that could withstand an enemy attack. Incorporate the features of an Iron Age hillfort and add some of your own. Label the features you have included.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for a student to draw and label their own settlement design. The box occupies the right half of the page, below the introductory text.

Art- Local landmarks

Following last week's look at the local landmark of the statue of Prince Albert, this week I'd like you to look at a different local landmark, St Peter's Collegiate Church.

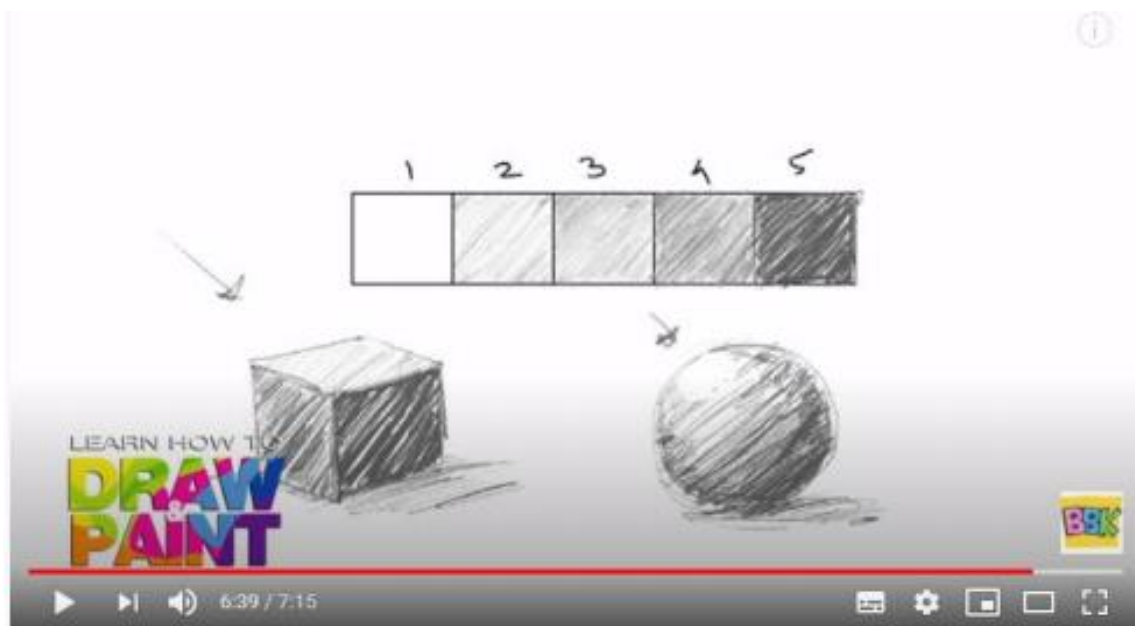

St Peter's Collegiate Church is located on the northern side of central Wolverhampton. The collegiate church was central to the development of the town of Wolverhampton, much of which belonged to its dean. Until the 18th century, it was the only church in Wolverhampton and the control of the college extended far into the surrounding area, with dependent chapels in several towns and villages of southern Staffordshire.

Use the videos below to help with the different art strategies we have learned!
